

Veeam Cloud Connect for Service Providers

The best in BaaS & DRaaS

Every business needs to back up their data off site, whether it be for endpoint protection, long-term storage or quick recovery in the case of disaster. Companies continue to look for easier, cheaper and more flexible alternatives to maintaining their own off-site storage. This is where backup as a service (BaaS) and disaster recovery as a service (DRaaS) continues to gain momentum.

Veeam® Cloud Connect gives you all the functionality you need to save the day for your customers, no matter where their data resides. With the power of the cloud, there's no need for organizations to build a dedicated data repository or hire the staff to maintain it. And because of our non-competition model, your Veeam-powered services stay front and center so you can be the IT hero your customers deserve.

Veeam-powered BaaS & DRaaS

Veeam Cloud Connect offers fast and secure backup and replication to the cloud for customer data across every workload, all from a single web-based console. We've made the ease of getting started as a BaaS & DRaaS customer our top priority: A customer simply selects their desired service provider within the console and points their backup or replica jobs to the cloud with a few simple clicks. And because Veeam Cloud Connect is built into Veeam Backup & Replication™, there's no additional charge or licensing required.

For customers, it means no more wrestling with legacy backup systems or babysitting redundant tasks, and no need to invest in the up-front costs of a second site. For service providers, leveraging the powerful capabilities and integrations of Veeam Cloud Connect means your customers can rest assured knowing their data is protected, no matter the location or workload type.

Just as important, Veeam is committed to continuing to expand on third-party integrations to support features like data mining, data re-use and more.

Rental licensing for Service Providers:
